A Vigorous Prosecution of the War.

We have at last learned the magnitude of the work we have to perform in putting down this rebellion. The conspirators showed great skill in precipitating the revolution, and they have so far consolidated their power as to command nearly the whole physical power of their section. Step by step they have got committed to their desperate cause, one after another in the South, until, wherever their power is, patriotism is a dead letter. They first seduced into their armies all that would volunteer, and have since levied almost in mass. Although not more than one third or fourth of the people of the Union, they have a force equal, if not superior, to ours. Great as were our preparations to put down the rebellion, they were inadequate.

We are not at war with a foreign nation where equal forces, or nearly equal ones, may be expected to settle the controversy. Our object is to enforce the laws upon every inch of American soil. It is not a trial of arms in which we are to test the courage of parties. Our plain, obvious duty is to enlist all the power of the Government at once, and put an end to the contest. If we had today a million soldiers, instead of three or four hundred thousand, we might have half a million of soldiers in Virginia, and the Confederate army would be captured with little effort of blood. It is quite competent for the loyal people of this Government to overwhelm the Confederate forces and capture and disperse them without these bloody contests which result from equal forces and equal chances of victory. Half a million can enforce the execution of the laws against the resistance of the same number. The employment of no more soldiers provokes and prolongs the contest. It is the duty of the Government to step into the field with overwhelming numbers, and enlisting no more till the Confederate States are covered with armies, and resistance is swept away. Humanity requires this course. The whole power of the country, nothing less. It is the apprehension that this contest will degenerate into one of savage cruelty. The way to prevent it is to end the contest by overwhelming power. There will be no temptation to exasperate an overwhelming, irresistible power, and provoke acts of cruelty.

The late disgusting acts of Congress, proposing confiscation, emancipation, and the employment of negroes, all resulted from conscious weakness. They were desperate expedients to supply the lack of power. If they had called for the whole power of the country the rebellion would have fallen without any of these desperate expedients, and it will never be put down with them. We want no new laws with hard penalties leading to barbarous results. We want soldiers, soldiers, soldiers in countless multitudes—legions, that there is no power in this conspiracy to resist.

If we had had at Bull Run half a million, instead of seventy-five thousand, the rebellion would have been crushed out, and thousands of lives would have been saved, and hundreds of millions of dollars would have been saved.

At Richmond, McClellan wanted regiments, brigades, divisions of soldiers. For want of them thousands of men were slaughtered.

The past can't be recalled nor can we condemn those in authority in that they did not foresee what would be necessary; but there can be hereafter no excuse for mistakes on the great point of a ample supply of force.

We are constantly annoyed and mortified to read that here and there our inferior forces have been overwhelmed by the enemy. There should be no excuse for this. The enemy should everywhere be outnumbered and overwhelmed. The loyal States have men, enough and resources enough to do it, and it should be so. The Government sees that no draft can be made on the patriotism of the country that will not be answered.

This will be a vigorous and energetic prosecution of the war. The parade of laws on the statute-book and bulky proclamations are all idle. With such force no more laws are needed, no unconstitutional enactments or unconstitutional practices are wanted. Such power can afford to be generous as well as just. It will accomplish the end without a trespass on private rights or personal liberty. In its presence we can afford to support the dominion of law and order, and dispense with suspicions and watchfulness, which comparative weakness is compelled to resort to. Let us have this sort of vigor.

General Phelps won't consent to allow the negroes to work on trenches, and consequently, resigns. If we could feel sure that his resignation was accepted, as it ought to be, we would forgive him for all the fuss he has tried to kick up about the negro.

Wendell Phillips said he had been nineteen years trying to take nineteen States out of the Union. The utility of his efforts is shown by the fact that in the last nineteen years ten or fifteen States have come into the Union.

We don't believe Breckinridge was so dirty that the waters of the Mississippi would clean him. On the contrary, we believe he was most effectively cleaned out at Baton Rouge, and didn't need any more water.

Must be Day on Dimey. John C. Breckinridge moved his forces back from the Mississippi, at Baton Rouge, on account of the scarcity of water. The Pacific ocean would about suit his case.

The Rebels Hand-cuffed Gen. Prince and others, taken at Cedar Mountain. Well, we must give them a sound, hearty hand-cuff, accompanied with kicks, back.

The Secessionists of Kentucky all wanted to die the Union, and asserted all the time that they only wanted to "keep the piece."

J. C. Breckinridge is said to threaten New Orleans, but we are not alarmed. There is not water enough to suit him near that city.

We have heard of getting butter from goats' milk, but the last plan of making butter of a ram, we confess, seems unnatural.

An exchange says the rebels are considerably blown up by their recent successes. No, but their gunboats are.

Breckinridge says he moved away from Baton Rouge "on his own time." We surmise that was pretty fast time.

Breckinridge is going down the Mississippi. We expect he is already very much "down in the mouth."

Sweet are the uses of adversity, but life is generally preferred without the sweetening.

The Abolitionists are opposed to the war. One can't see why; none of them ever got it.

The last rebel ram, the Arkansas, has gone up, and the Confeds have no better left.

All guns have butts, but some gunboats have very heavy ones.

Morgan's raid didn't prove to be much of a play-act.

Pope dug a canal and the rebels furnished the dams to it.

The rebel ram Arkansas went out to sea and got shot.

Letter from Hart County.

(Correspondence of the Louisville Democrat.)

MURFRESBORO, Ky., Aug. 14.

Editors Democrat—Gentlemen: The attention of the military authorities should be called to the fact that, since it has become evident that all men who enjoy the protection of the Government of the United States must contribute to its support, and aid in putting down this rebellion, either by contributing of their means or by swelling the ranks of its army, numbers of men are ready leaving for the Confederate army. I am reliably informed that from the county of Barren daily stampedes (rather nightly) of five to twenty, for a rebel rendezvous, at a place beyond Scottsville, have been going on for a week or more; and that a few have also gone from Hart county, and in fact from all the country south of Green river. I am further informed that, at some point near the State line, a new Kentucky regiment is being organized for the rebel army, with a special view, no doubt, to arm and equip themselves, that a sufficient number of horses to mount themselves, and dash into this section of the country and lay it waste, whilst we are stripped of men to defend us by the recent volunteering in the Federal army. Our people are turning out almost en masse, and whilst that is so the powers that be should see to it that the traitors in our midst, who will not sustain the Government, should not organize themselves and overrun the homes of the patriots who have been called by the authorities to fight. Who business is it to stop this rebel stampeding? If it be the duty of protest marshals, let those in the district inquire into this duty. If the duty of the commander in Kentucky, let him be advised of the fact, and I am assured that prompt measures will be taken to stop it. If it should, it can, it must be stopped.

Our sympathy with the rebellion in Kentucky is long since taken from the side of patriotism, and those of her sons who still are disposed to make war upon the Government of the United States must be made to understand that the rebellion in Kentucky is "played out." We have tried kind treatment, have courted and coaxed them quite too long. It is now time to make the power and purpose of the Government felt and understood. Let traitors understand what treason means, and what its consequences are.

Another splendid company left Hart today for Col. Cass's Regiment. It was recruited by Capt. W. A. Smith and Lieutenant Andrew Self and Nathan R. Wheat. A better company of officers and men are not to be found, and they will reflect credit upon their country and their State. Recruiting still goes bravely on. Hart county will stand no draft.

Letter from Bowling Green.

(Correspondence Louisville Democrat.)

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Aug. 15, '62.

Editors Democrat—Gentlemen: Since the departure of Colonel Boone's parolee men, our city has been very quiet. Yesterday Dr. Hines, of Nelson county, Surgeon of the Twenty-eighth Kentucky, and who was also paroled by Morgan, arrived with his son, a Captain in Morgan's command, under a flag of truce. Colonel Boone appears to think his papers will not all the case, and has him under guard, I suppose as a spy. Our town is full of grape vines now, some of which, I see, gets into the Cincinnati Gazette.

You can rely upon the fact that neither Morgan nor any rebels have been to Gallatin since Colonel Miller arrived there from Nashville.

A construction train left here yesterday morning with mechanics and tools, under Mr. Pink, to repair the road at Gallatin, and expected to have the line open in a few days, unless the tunnel was damaged.

We have news this morning from Scottsville that the guerrillas still that town and pass through the county almost daily. Champ Ferguson's headquarters are but six hours' ride from that place. The cattle captured were intended for Morgan's men, who went to Hartsville, Tennessee, to get a squad of men there to steal. He got the horses, and Bruce the cattle.

WARREN.

It is stated that George Francis Train, the American, who has stirred up John Bull with his defense of the Union cause, was imprisoned in London on the 1st instant, to prevent his embarking for America, where he intended to raise volunteers.

Dispatch—Mr. G. Thomas was tried before his Honor A. H. Robertson, Esq., City Judge, on Wednesday last for the killing of John Vance, alias Kirby, several weeks ago in Lexington, Ky. It was proved that the killing was done in self-defense.

A big dinner will be given on Wednesday, to the soldiers (fifteen hundred) in camp at Madison, Indiana, by the benevolent ladies of that place and vicinity. Bravo for the ladies.

THE BATTLE OF CEDAR MOUNTAIN.

At the Meadow Bridge, five miles north of Richmond, between the hours of 4 and 6 P. M. on Saturday, a heavy and continuous cannonade was heard in the direction of Orange Court-house. We have since learned that the result of the battle was a decided victory for the Federal forces. The advance forces of Pope and Gen. Jackson were fought, resulting in a decided victory for us, at a point on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, near Orange Court-house. We have as yet been unable to learn the particulars.

P. S.—Since the above was written, we have received the glorious news of a complete victory over Pope's forces in which we have taken a number of his brigades, General Jackson and twenty-nine commissioned officers, all of whom arrived at Gordonsville last night handcuffed.

FROM JACKSON'S ARMY—OPERATIONS COMMENCED.

(From the Richmond Examiner, 14th.)

The battle was opened on Saturday morning, at Mitchell's Station, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, by a spirited engagement between a small portion of Jackson's army and a similar force of the Federal army. The result was a decided victory for the Federal forces. The advance forces of Pope and Gen. Jackson were fought, resulting in a decided victory for us, at a point on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, near Orange Court-house. We have as yet been unable to learn the particulars.

Special Dispatch to the Louisville Journal.

Nashville, August 17.

The Rebel fight, begun on the Kentucky and Mississippi railroads, was today, and the track is reported torn up for a considerable distance this side of Tullahoma.

Two Federal couriers were captured by guerrillas, nine miles south of the city, last night, and their dispatches and horses were taken from them. They were then released. They report a large force, under Stearns, north of Murfreesboro.

Col. Miller made an armed reconnaissance towards Gallatin last night, and ascertained that Morgan had decamped in the direction of Hartsville.

WASHINGTON, August 17.

The Commissioners of Internal Revenue have prepared a form of book to be kept by distillers and brewers, which will be furnished to parties on application.

Col. Bowman and Major Volger arrived this morning, accompanied by Adjutant General Thomas.

Col. Corcoran, in response to a call, expected his regiment, which took this morning's train, to be ready to take any position to serve his country. At another time he would take an opportunity to say a few words to his fellow-citizens.

Non-Alfred Ely has been selected to make the welcoming speech, and the old Sixty-ninth are ordered to Washington, to be present at the reception.

The Navy Department has received the particulars of the capture of the steamer Columbia by the Santiago de Cuba, seventy-five miles from Obispo. She left Nassau the day previous under British colors, but had no register. She was loaded with munitions of war, and was fast sailing under the colors of the United States.

She had aboard Charleston, Savannah and Dahomea pilots.

CLEVELAND, Va., August 17.

Colonel Ficklin went yesterday with a construction train as far as Rapidan Station, to examine the bridge over the river of the enemy were within gunshot of the river on the other side it was thought inexpedient to begin repairs on the bridge until the morning, now on the march, should be able to do the workmen.

Col. Ficklin found near the river a lot of flour stored for Confederate use, which he seized.

Confederate reports from Gordonsville report the continuous arrival of troops from Richmond.

We now occupy the line of the Rapidan from the Raccoonborough on the east to Caves Ford on the left, with pickets and scouting parties beyond these points.

Gen. Banks is fast recovering from his recent injuries.

There was a general advance towards the Rapidan to-day. If the enemy intend to dispute the possession of Orange they will endeavor to drive us back. Nothing has been heard from them so far.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 17.

Arrived at nine o'clock this morning the steamer Oregon, from Australia, bringing one hundred and ninety-six passengers and crew from the Golden State in a boat, heretofore reported missing. Four others were saved and are remaining at Manzanilla to take the downward passage to Panama.

The names of the saved, with their former residence, are as follows:

R. W. Henderson, Cleveland, Ohio; W. Herbert, Bavaria; J. Brune, Italy; S. Xanis, Hungary; Arthur Leber, W. Catherine, C. Hulse, Max, Seligson, Prussia; S. P. Storms, Ed. Lucia, New York; Julius Salinger, San Francisco; Amos Clark, E. S. Clark, Raymondville, N. Y.; James Scott, New York; Thomas Keefe, Ireland; E. Douglas, Mass.; William Morrissey, Boston; Ed.
